Viet War Longest In American History

SAIGON (AP) — The Vietnam war became the longest war in American history today with thousands of U.S. troops set up in new positions to protect South Vietnam's capital against a threatened third enemy offensive.

At midnight in Saigon—noon EDT—the war became six years, six months and one day old, measured from the death on Dec. 22, 1961, of Spec. 4 James Thomas Davis of Livingston, Tenn., the first of more than 25,000 Americans who have been killed in Vietnam.

The longest war involving American fighting men had been the War of Independence—six years and six months, from the April 19, 1775, skirmish at Lexington, Mass., to the Oct. 19, 1781, surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown.

U.S. 25th Division infantrymen sweeping the outer edges of the rocket belt reported killing 12 enemy soldiers and capturing seven weapons nine miles northwest of the capital. No U.S. casualties were reported.

Some 355,000 American troops now are fighting in Vietnam.

The U.S. Command has pulled thousands of American infantrymen in from outlying provinces, military sources said today, in an effort to block key enemy infiltration routes and cut down enemy shellings that have terrorized Saigon's 3 million people.

A senior U.S. officer declined to say how many troops were being moved closer to the capital, but it was learned that perhaps a brigade of infantrymen—3,000 men—had been moved to the city's outer limits.

One troop move paid off Friday. U.S. headquarters said paratroopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division killed 35 enemy soldiers in a daylight fight northwest of Saigon after moving from northeast of the city.

The move put the paratroopers along some of the most heavily used enemy infiltration corridors between Cambodia and Saigon in Hau Nghia Province.

GOP Opposes LBJ Naming Chief Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) —Three Republican senators say they will oppose any effort by President Johnson to name a new chief justice of the Supreme Court after Earl Warren steps down.

"For a 'game duck' president to designate the leadership of the Supreme Court for many years in the future would break faith with our system and would be an affront to the American people," Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., told the Senate.

"With the court in adjournment and the American people about to pick a new administration which may considerably reorient the philosophy of our national government, it would be a major mistake to presume today to fill such an important post," said Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., agreed with both of them, adding he was "delighted to hear Chief Justice Earl Warren will be retiring from the Supreme Court. I have long favored such a move."

All three commented Friday in the wake of authoritative reports that Warren had written Johnson of his intention to bow out after 15 controversial years that saw the barriers of school segregation tumble and guarantees of the rights of individuals vastly expanded.

Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he believes the elevation of an associate justice to chief justice needs Senate confirmation, as was done in 1941 when Franklin D. Roosevelt nominated Harlan Fiske Stone to succeed Charles Evans Hughes.

The Constitution says nothing about that specific point, spelling out only the need for Senate confirmation of a justice.

Poor People Face Deadline To End Washington Camp

WASHINGTON (AP) — The beleaguered Poor People's campaign enters its most crucial weekend today facing a Sunday deadline to get out of its shantytown near the Lincoln Memorial.

The permit for Resurrection City expires Sunday at 8 p.m. Federal officials were reported strongly opposed to granting an extension of the permit, already extended one week from the original expiration date June 16.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, leader of the campaign, repeated Friday that he and his followers will not leave voluntarily because the goals of improved job and income opportunities for the nation's poor have not been attained.

"We have no place else to go," Abernathy said.

An aide disclosed later that Abernathy is resigning his pastorate in Atlanta to devote all his time to the campaign.

Further evidence that the campaigners, far from getting ready to withdraw, are instead girding for a long pull was seen in the announcement that volunteers for the project are once again being sought from around the country.

Abernathy told a news conference in the dirt outside the fence of Resurrection City he deplored the violence that resulted in 77 arrests Thursday by police using tear gas and nightsticks. If America wants someone to blame, he said, he accepts responsibility.

The confrontation at the Department of Agriculture building seemed to have had a profound effect on the thinking of the officials who will make the decision on extending or closing out the Resurrection City permit.

"It would have been hard to give an extension, but after yesterday it is out of the question," the Washington Post quoted one official as saying.

Metric War On Again At Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — The gram and the meter, the foot and the pound—those scarred old veterans of earlier congressional wars—were about to square off again on Capitol Hill.

Scheduled to reach the House floor Monday is a bill to authorize a three-year study of increasing the use of the metric system—grams and meters—in the United States.

The bill would put a $500,000 ceiling on the first year of the study by the Commerce Department.

"It's got to come. We can't go on using our present system and do business around the world," says Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., a chief backer of the bill. But Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, a leading republican economist in the House, gives an indication that the debate which started when the French adopted the metric system in 1795 is likely to continue.

"What do we need a study of the metric system for?" says Gross. "I'm sure the Bureau of Standards can give us all the information we need."

On his release from prison in 1955, Audett said, "My debt's aid paid to society and I don't intend to run up any more bills."

Police said he has been arrested several times since then.

Teamsters Paint

NEW YORK (AP) — An exhibition of paintings by members of the Teamsters union in the New York area has gone on display at a union-sponsored art center. Some drivers, said Saul Solomon, art center director, are impatient to park their rig at day's end and get to work in the studio. "It's very therapeutic," he said.

NOW IT IS CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE — Switching from peaceful demonstrations to civil disobedience, poverty campaigners deliberately block entrances to the Agriculture Department in Washington and dare police to arrest them. One of 40 arrested is carried away.

Goldberg Makes Farewells As He Leaves U.N. Position

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Arthur J. Goldberg, bowing out as U.S. chief envoy at the United Nations, is setting up a busy future for himself as lawyer, writer, lecturer, professor and government consultant.

Goldberg, 59, has paid his farewell call on Secretary-General U Thant on Monday, after heading the American delegation here since July 28, 1965. He will hand over the job to his successor, George W. Ball.

Goldberg announced his resignation weeks ago but stayed on until he saw the U.S.-Soviet nuclear nonproliferation treaty approved by the 124-nation General Assembly and blessed by the Security Council. He served as president of the council in June.

He is returning to law practice, in which he engaged in Chicago, 1929-61, and in Washington before entering government service as secretary of labor in the Kennedy Administration. This time he will practice either in Washington or in New York. He has rival offers from firms in both cities and will decide between them over the weekend on his Virginia farm.

Goldberg also will write a book on American foreign policy beyond Vietnam. He has said that, after Vietnam, the United States cannot help continuing as a world power but need not be a world policeman and should follow a middle course between isolationism and interventionism.

Convict-Author Arrested Again

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — An ex-convict and author of "Rap Sheet—My Life of Crime" was bound over to the grand jury following a preliminary hearing in Portland's Municipal Criminal Court Friday.

Theodore James "Blackie" Audett was arrested June 2 on a charge of burglary.

He wrote his book in 1954 while serving time in the Oregon Penitentiary for parole violation following a bank robbery in Idaho.

On his release from prison in 1955, Audett said, "My debt's aid paid to society and I don't intend to run up any more bills."

Police said he has been arrested several times since then.

There was an unconfirmed report of one more student killed. More than a hundred persons were reported injured and police said more than a thousand demonstrators smashed windows in the U.S. Embassy.

Authorities ordered the arrest of several student leaders in an effort to prevent further violence.

One of the demonstrators' first targets was the U.S. Embassy, where they fought with police who tried to disperse them. Three girl demonstrators were reported wounded by gunfire. Two were treated at a hospital and released.

No embassy personnel were reported hurt. Two floors of the embassy were evacuated after tear gas seeped through some of the 23 broken windows.

Army Captain Becomes Citizen

HONOLULU (AP) — A Cuban-born captain in the U.S. Army took special leave from Vietnam to become a naturalized citizen of the United States. Capt. Luis Martinez became an American citizen on his 34th birthday Friday.

Martinez, a native of Havana, fled Cuba in 1959. His wife and daughter live in Miami, Fla.

Ohio Supreme Court Ruling On Amendment Causes Stir

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The mechanics of an Ohio Supreme Court decision obscured in the findings in a minor case, but which led to a ruling giving most Ohio judges a pay raise starting June 10, caused a stir in the Statehouse during the week.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said he was a bit perplexed over one phase of the ruling, and Statehouse newsmen said they were puzzled over another.

Last Wednesday in a 6-1 decision the high court made the judicial reform amendment approved by Ohio voters, and raising jurists' salaries, effective a lot sooner than the General Assembly intended it to be. "I fail to see how they can rule one way in the case of the Ohio Bond Commission and a different way now," Brown commented. His office is charged with preparing the condensed version of amendments appearing on election ballots.

Brown pointed out that last year the state's highest court ruled a condensed text was all right for the bond commission amendment, but decided this week it was not for the judicial reform issue.

The high court decision stemmed from a ruling that a "modern courts" amendment to the Constitution became effective upon approval by voters in the May 7 primary election.

It brings pay raises to seven judges of the Supreme Court, 34 current appellate judges (an additional four when the number of appellate judges is increased next year), 185 common pleas court judges (an additional score to be added next year) and about 90 probate judges whose benches, under the new court amendment, will be absorbed into common pleas next year.

Municipal judges and county judges are not included in the pay raises.

The amendment as set out by the Legislature contained a Jan. 9, 1970 effective date. But the high court said the ballot summary of Issue 3 omitted the future date, making it operative upon approval by voters.

Tax Increase Bill Will Be Approved By President Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to sign within a few days the 10 per cent income tax surcharge bill and taxpayers should find paychecks smaller before the end of July.

The first federal income tax hike in 17 years, coupled with a $6-billion cut in federal spending, whipped through the Senate Friday by a surprisingly large margin, although passage had been expected.

The vote was 64-16 with some senators predicting that economic recession, not rekindling of faith in the dollar, would be the result.

Withholding rates will be raised 10 per cent for individuals in the first pay period 15 days after the measure is signed.

Passage of the bill marked the first time Congress had agreed to boost federal income taxes since 1951 during the Korean war when — as now — U.S. forces were heavily engaged in an Asian war.

The 10 per cent surcharge is retroactive to April 1 for individuals, Jan. 1 for corporations. It expires June 30, 1969 unless extended.

The surtax has the effect of raising nearly every taxpayer's bill by 10 per cent. In other words, if you now pay $1,000 a year in taxes, you would pay $1,100 if it were in effect for a full year.

Another way of putting it would be if you are paid weekly and $50 per week is deducted for federal income tax, $55 will be deducted when the tax goes into effect.

The only individuals exempt from the tax will be single persons with $1,000 or less of taxable income and couples with $2,000 or less.

The pending cut provisions of the bill direct that $6 billion in federal outlays be slashed for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The measure also directs the President report to Congress next January as to how $8 billion of prior, unused appropriations, can be rescinded.

One of the most far-reaching provisions of the bill would set a permanent ceiling on regular federal employees of 2,366,000. This is 244,000 below current levels and would be achieved by not filling one out of every four vacancies.

Truck Drivers Fined for Drag Racing

Two truck drivers cited by the Ohio State Highway Patrol for drag racing pleaded guilty to the charges in Circleville Municipal Court Friday afternoon.

Judge Sterling Lamb fined John T. Montague, 24, Raleigh, N.C., and Fred Roosevelt Richmond Jr., 28, Sanford, N.C., each $150 and costs. The judge also handed each man a suspended six month jail sentence and suspended their driving rights for 30 days.

The truck drivers were incarcerated in the Pickaway County Jail yesterday pending payment of their fines.

Cpl. Ernest Wigglesworth was the officer who cited the truckers. He discovered the race between the two trucks when he was on routine patrol on Route 23, 8 p.m. Thursday.

HHH Sees Self Spokesman for Americans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Back on the campaign trail after a long respite, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is depicting himself as the spokesman for the "vast, silent group of Americans" who want safety and equal rights for everyone.

Humphrey offered the evaluation Friday in St. Paul, Minn., at a Democratic fund-raising dinner, his first political outing since the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The event provided one of those infrequent encounters between the vice president and his rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

McCarthy, like Humphrey a Minnesotan, was first to speak to the group and was on his way out when Humphrey arrived. A quick handshake, a few words in passing and then each went his separate way.

Humphrey said a slowdown in the arms race and diligence in attempts to reduce tensions between the United States and the world's two major Communist powers, the Soviet Union and Red China, rank as top-priority objectives in the coming years.

The Democratic organization in Minnesota has a strong pro-Humphrey cast but this didn't deter McCarthy from urging the state party "to erase old ideas, and, in some cases, old loyalties."

His goal, he said, is to achieve

"a kind of public judgment of which issues the Democrats ought to take to the country in November. This is what the primaries are about and what the convention is about."

McCarthy planned to seek support today at the Minnesota state convention of the Democratic Farmer Labor Party, while Humphrey was weekendending at his home in Waverly, Minn.

Before flying to Minnesota Friday Humphrey spoke in New York at the National Newspaper Publishers Association, an organization representing Negro newspapers. The group is being given a strong push by the Democratic and Republican contenders.

McCarthy addressed the group Thursday. The GOP front runner, Richard M. Nixon, mixed with the publishers at a cocktail party Friday and his rival, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York planned to speak at one of their sessions today.

Washington Thinks Claim Is Spurious

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea proclaimed its navy patrol boats sank an enemy spy ship early today in the Yellow Sea and sent the crew "to the bottom of the sea to the last man."

Without further identifying the vessel, Pyongyang's official Korean Central News agency broadcast a declaration that the vessel was dispatched by "U.S. imperialist aggressor troops who are engrossed in incessant provocative acts on the ground and sea and in the air of late" against North Korea.

American and South Korean authorities had no confirmation of any such incident. In Washington a Pentagon spokesman said that, from a hurried check, "it would appear that this initial report is erroneous."

A Seoul spokesman for the U.S. forces in Korea said: "As far as we know there is nothing to it. We have no report on it." The reaction of South Korean military spokesmen was similar.

In Tokyo, another American spokesman said he was informed by the 314th Air Division command post in Korea that a distress signal had been picked up today from a South Korean fishing boat.

This might have been the "spy ship" to which Pyongyang referred, though the report did not give the time of the SOS or the location of the boat.

The North Korean account said the vessel was sunk near Boopo, also known as Pukpo, a small fishing village off the west coast near the 38th Parallel between Haeju and Yungpyung Island.

North Korea seized the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo off Wonsan on the east coast last Jan. 23. Efforts to obtain release of 82 surviving American crewmen of the Pueblo have so far failed.

Storms Rake Michigan, Ohio

Cooler Air Triggers Hail

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cooler air creeping over the Great Lakes today triggered severe thunderstorms which raked parts of the region with violent winds, hail and heavy rain.

Northerly breezes moving in behind the storms ended a brief summer — opening heat spell which had sent the mercury in the high 80s and 90s Friday through much of the Midwest. But the change was violent.

Severe windstorms swept several communities in lower Michigan during the night, toppling trees and power lines and damaging cars and farm buildings. Wind gusts up to 60 miles an hour hit Port Sheldon, 20 miles south of Muskegon; Hudsonville, 10 miles southwest of Grand Rapids; and Hazlett, just east of Lansing. No injuries were reported.

A heavy windstorm packing gusts of 65 miles per hour lashed the north-central Ohio area around Attica before dawn.

Hailstones up to an inch in diameter pounded Benton Harbor, in southwestern Michigan's fruit belt, Friday afternoon.

Hot and humid air preceding the Midwest thunderstorms pushed the temperature to a record-equaling 95 at Chicago Friday afternoon. By early today the mercury had fallen some 30 degrees.

The event provided one of those infrequent encounters between the vice president and his rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

McCarthy, like Humphrey a Minnesotan, was first to speak to the group and was on his way out when Humphrey arrived. A quick handshake, a few words in passing and then each went his separate way.

Humphrey said a slowdown in the arms race and diligence in attempts to reduce tensions between the United States and the world's two major Communist powers, the Soviet Union and Red China, rank as top-priority objectives in the coming years.

The Democratic organization in Minnesota has a strong pro-Humphrey cast but this didn't deter McCarthy from urging the state party "to erase old ideas, and, in some cases, old loyalties."

HHH Sees Self Spokesman for Americans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Back on the campaign trail after a long respite, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is depicting himself as the spokesman for the "vast, silent group of Americans" who want safety and equal rights for everyone.

Humphrey offered the evaluation Friday in St. Paul, Minn., at a Democratic fund-raising dinner, his first political outing since the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

will be the last Ohio delegation in 1968, the week of August 1-10. Group leaders are Bryan Carter, County Extension Agent, Agriculture, Gallia County; Eleanor Whinnery, Harrison County; and Kenneth Wheeler, Noble County.

Citizenship Short course delegates are chosen by their counties and may receive scholarships from local business or 4-H groups. During their program at the National 4-H Center, delegates hear nationally recognized speakers, discuss citizenship programs they can develop at home, visit national monuments to appreciate national heritage, and discuss with government leaders youth's role in responsible government.

knit fabric which should consist of round loops. If the loops are long and narrow, the fabric was stretched during manufacture. When such fabric is washed, the loops relax and return to their normal round shape. The result? The T-shirt gets shorter and wider.

The rounder the knit loops are, the greater the chance that the shirt will keep its shape. Mrs. Haynes adds that it may be difficult to see the shape of such small loops. She suggests placing a contrasting paper under the fabric — or even using a magnifying glass.

Construction is important, too. Check shoulder seams for reinforcement. Check to see if the shirt was cut with the grain or line of loops in the fabric. Try to determine if the neckband is knitted firmly enough to return to shape after it is stretched over your head.

Select a style appropriate for your use. Remember that a T-shirt is underwear; consequently it shouldn't show. If you like to wear sport shirts unbuttoned at the neck, select a T-shirt with a V- or U-neckline.

Farm Combine Illustrates Problem of Small Farmers

By DON KENDALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The efforts of the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association to develop a profitable marketing enterprise for vegetable crops is an extreme example of what is ailing a segment of this nation's agriculture.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John A. Baker, who has worked closely with the cooperative in negotiating an $852,000 government loan, calls the group's plight "a microcosm of a nationwide problem."

Baker refers to the low-income farmer, not to the large, commercial producer who, despite the squeeze on profits through soaring costs and weak prices for products, has been operating successfully.

The cooperative — called by its acronym, "Swafca" — was created early last year through a $400,000 grant by the Office of Economic Opportunity over the objections of Alabama state and county officials.

The cooperative began in 10 counties of the state's Black Belt, an area rich in Southern tradition and lore, and included about 800 family members, mostly Negro.

Today, the co-op says, membership is almost 2,000 families. The average size farming operation is 44 acres, and total average family cash income is less than $1,000 a year.

The area has been a center of civil rights activism. Its Negro farmers have little education, money or social resources.

In other regions, the historical answer has been for small, inefficient farmers to leave the land, to migrate to cities and compete for jobs in strange and often hostile environments.

This "solution" has not been restricted to the South, Negroes or today. The migration of people from the land because of diminishing opportunity has grown year after year, with each major change in technology, with every shift from traditional methods of production.

But not all poor people have left the land. Rural poverty exists in each state and involves virtually every caste, economic and ethnic.

In the cooperative's area, a farmer can't produce traditional crops with traditional methods, says Baker — not on half an acre, or 20, or 44.

"You just can't make a modern American living on this kind of acreage," he said. "So these people have decided to shift from traditional crops to vegetables, and, second, set up a business enterprise of their own. Their aspirations are just soaring."

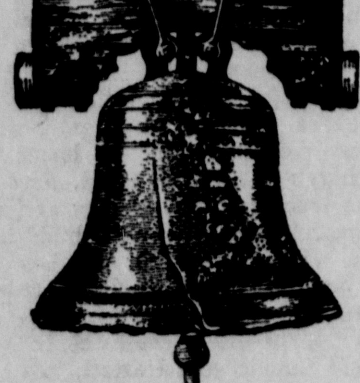

Slippery as Eel

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Sand or a burlap bag is an important accessory when angling for Missouri's most unusual fish, the freshwater eel. The eel, a migrant from its birthplace in the Saragasso Sea, is so slimy it is impossible to get it off the hook without something coarse like burlap or sand to remove the thick mucus covering.

The eel is delicious smoked, fried or pickled.

Thomas R. Russell, Missouri fishery biologist, also reports: "All eels caught in Missouri are females, because the males generally stay in brackish water along the coast."

EXAMINE the fabric carefully. T-shirts are made of knit fabric which should consist of round loops. If the loops are long and narrow, the fabric was stretched during manufacture. When such fabric is washed, the loops relax and return to their normal round shape. The result? The T-shirt gets shorter and wider.

The rounder the knit loops are, the greater the chance that the shirt will keep its shape. Mrs. Haynes adds that it may be difficult to see the shape of such small loops. She suggests placing a contrasting paper under the fabric — or even using a magnifying glass.

Construction is important, too. Check shoulder seams for reinforcement. Check to see if the shirt was cut with the grain or line of loops in the fabric. Try to determine if the neckband is knitted firmly enough to return to shape after it is stretched over your head.

Select a style appropriate for your use. Remember that a T-shirt is underwear; consequently it shouldn't show. If you like to wear sport shirts unbuttoned at the neck, select a T-shirt with a V- or U-neckline.

Farm Combine Illustrates Problem of Small Farmers

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The efforts of the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association to develop a profitable marketing enterprise for vegetable crops is an extreme example of what is ailing a segment of this nation's agriculture.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John A. Baker, who has worked closely with the cooperative in negotiating an $852,000 government loan, calls the group's plight "a microcosm of a nationwide problem."

Baker refers to the low-income farmer, not to the large, commercial producer who, despite the squeeze on profits through soaring costs and weak prices for products, has been operating successfully.

The cooperative — called by its acronym, "Swafca" — was created early last year through a $400,000 grant by the Office of Economic Opportunity over the objections of Alabama state and county officials.

The cooperative began in 10 counties of the state's Black Belt, an area rich in Southern tradition and lore, and included about 800 family members, mostly Negro.

Today, the co-op says, membership is almost 2,000 families. The average size farming operation is 44 acres, and total average family cash income is less than $1,000 a year.

The area has been a center of civil rights activism. Its Negro farmers have little education, money or social resources. In other regions, the historical answer has been for small, inefficient farmers to leave the land, to migrate to cities and compete for jobs in strange and often hostile environments.

This "solution" has not been restricted to the South, Negroes or today. The migration of people from the land because of diminishing opportunity has grown year after year, with each major change in technology, with every shift from traditional methods of production.

But not all poor people have left the land. Rural poverty exists in each state and involves virtually every caste, economic and ethnic.

In the cooperative's area, a farmer can't produce traditional crops with traditional methods, says Baker — not on half an acre, or 20, or 44.

"You just can't make a modern American living on this kind of acreage," he said. "So these people have decided to shift from traditional crops to vegetables, and, second, set up a business enterprise of their own. Their aspirations are just soaring."

Small trees and especially recently transplanted trees should be treated by the homeowner by using fixed copper 50 per cent at two tablespoons per gallon of water, or ferbam at 2½ tablespoons per gallon of water, or captan at 1½ tablespoons per gallon of water. These trees should be sprayed this spring and early summer to protect new foliage as small or recently transplanted trees are already in a weakened condition.

Other trees such as oak, hickory, ash and maple may show similar symptoms on the leaves due to the same disease. However, symptoms may not be as severe on them as on sycamore.

Slippery as Eel

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Sand or a burlap bag is an important accessory when angling for Missouri's most unusual fish, the freshwater eel.

The eel, a migrant from its birthplace in the Saragasso Sea, is so slimy it is impossible to get it off the hook without something coarse like burlap or sand to remove the thick mucus covering.

The eel is delicious smoked, fried or pickled.

Thomas R. Russell, Missouri fishery biologist, also reports: "All eels caught in Missouri are females, because the males generally stay in brackish water along the coast."

Infection Follows Corn in Rotation

INFECTED WHEAT — Scab on wheat sometimes takes a heavy toll. The stalk on the left is not affected; the one in the center is dead in the upper half; and the one on the right is completely destroyed. The disease seems to be more severe when wheat follows corn in rotation.

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Scab occurs most commonly when wheat follows corn in the rotation and occasionally it takes a very heavy toll. Some years it is more severe than others.

The scab fungus attacks the seedlings and also the heads of the plants. The infected seedlings are killed or greatly weakened, and the infected parts of heads are killed. The most conspicuous symptom on the heads is a premature ripening of one or more spikelets, giving the infected part of the head a bleached or whitened appearance. Individual spikelets or various parts of heads may be killed.

Usually pink or salmon colored masses of spores of the scab fungus are evident on the edges or bases of the affected glumes. The kernels in killed portions of the head are much shrunken, almost white, and scabby in appearance, hence, the name "scab."

The scab fungus is carried over from one crop to the next, both in the seed and on crop refuse, such as cornstalks in the fields. The fungus carried with the seed can infect wheat seedlings, depending on conditions at seeding time, and can cause seedling blight. The fungus from cornstalks or wheat or barley straw allowed to remain over winter on the surface of the soil may infect the heads and cause head blight. The disease is most severe where wheat follows corn.

SCAB is difficult to control. In areas where it is frequently severe, the most effective control is obtained by not sowing wheat after corn. Where it is necessary to do so, the cornstalks either should be plowed under thoroughly or cut as low as possible and removed from the field before the land is disked. In any case, the seed should be cleaned thoroughly.

Macrophages May Assist Cancer Fight

DUARTE, Calif. (AP) — A long-sought clue to how the body recognizes and fights invaders—with potential value in the field of cancer and organ transplants—has been found in research at the City of Hope Medical Center.

Dr. Riojun Kinoshita, director emeritus of experimental pathology at the center, found the clue in working with macrophages, a type of white cell in the blood stream.

"We have learned that macrophages trap and analyze disease-causing material invading the body, then send instructions to another type of white cells, the lymphocytes, to multiply and make antibodies specifically designed to destroy the invader," Kinoshita says.

"We now think it may be possible to recondition macrophages to help us in at least two ways. First, we might train them to recognize at least some types of cancer as foreign material, so that lymphocytes would make antibodies to destroy cancer cells. Second, we might also train macrophages not to react to transplanted organs such as hearts and kidneys, in other words, to inhibit the production of antibodies naturally, without the use of radiation or drugs."

Ohio Regents Seek Funds, Create School

CLEVELAND (AP) — Central State and Ohio State would each get $70,000 under a proposed $430,000 program of tutorial assistance at state universities to help students with poverty backgrounds.

The Ohio Board of Regents, meeting Friday at Cleveland State University, asked the state controlling board to provide funds for the program under which university seniors would act as tutors for freshmen to help them fill gaps in their secondary school education. The program was scaled down from the $2 million which the universities had sought for the purpose.

Other allotments would include: $35,000 each for Kent State, Cleveland State and Ohio University; $20,000 each for Akron, Cincinnati and Toledo; $15,000 each for Youngstown and Wright State, and $10,000 each for Miami and Bowling Green.

Junior colleges also would share in the tutorial program, with Cuyahoga Community College getting $35,000; Lakeland, Lorain and Sinclair, $10,000; Institute and Clark County Technical Institute, $5,000 each.

In other action, the Regents amended residence requirements for students under 21 at state schools. Such students now will be considered Ohio residents for tuition purposes when their parents establish residence and take up employment in Ohio. Students previously could not be accepted as Ohio residents unless they had lived in the state for a year.

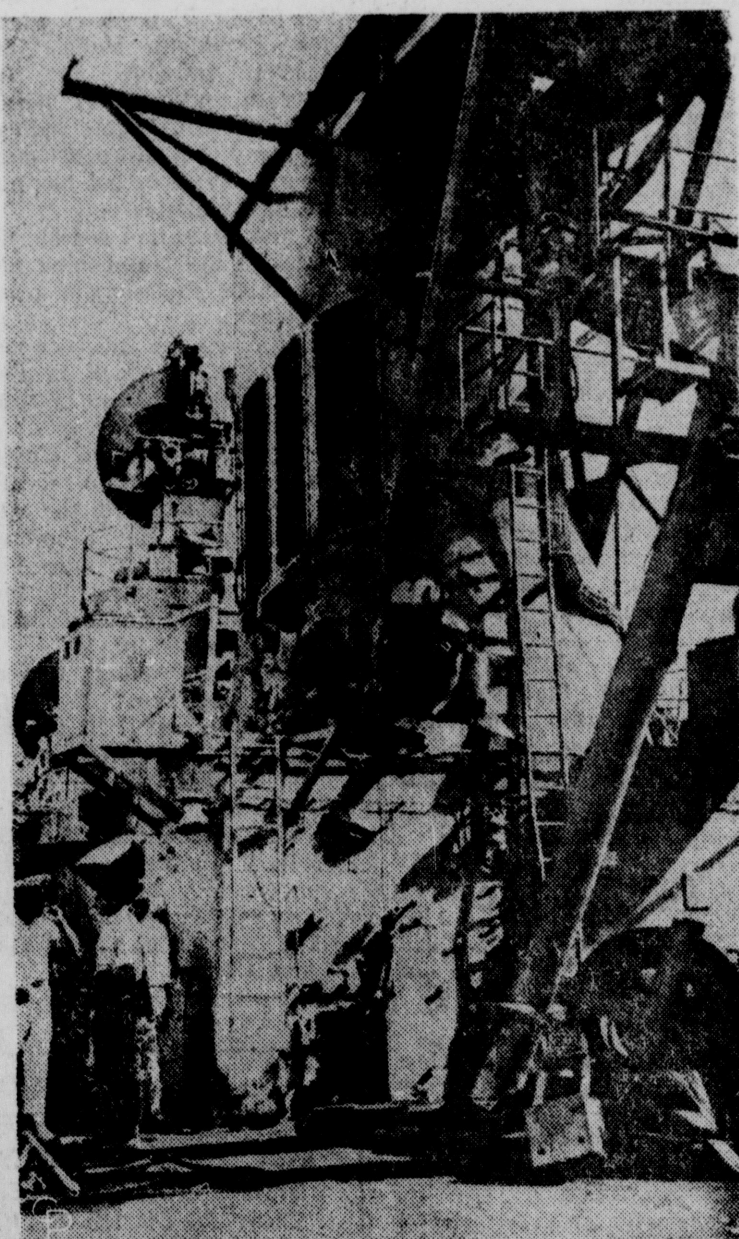

The Regents also voted to create a branch university to serve Auglaize, Darke, Mercer, and Van Wert counties. It would take over extension school service now provided in the area by Ohio Northern University under contract with Western Ohio Educational Foundation.

Cleveland Area Police Figure Gunned Down

'Pete' DiGravio Shot to Death On Golf Course

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland area police figure who had been under investigation by federal agencies was shot and killed from ambush Friday as he played golf at the Orchard Hills Golf and Country Club at Chesterland.

Geauga County Sheriff's deputies said Pierino "Pete" DiGravio, 42, was preparing to tee off with three others on the 16th hole when he was felled by a sniper using a .30-caliber carbine.

The shots came from behind a log fence in a wooded area just 72 feet from where the foursome was standing, deputies said.

DiGravio's partners said he had just placed his tee in the ground when they heard a noise that sounded like a firecracker exploding and DiGravio fell to the ground, saying "I've been shot."

Three more shots were fired after DiGravio slumped over, one hitting him at the base of the skull and another in the back, deputies said. The first shot hit him in the shoulder.

Authorities identified other members of the foursome as Jay Fife, 48, of East Cleveland; Sam Poleofico, 55, of Cleveland; and Tony Lanese, 49, of Mayfield Heights.

DiGravio lived in Burton, a few miles from the golf course, but listed his address Cleveland Heights. He was married and had two children.

He was associated with the MDM Investment Co. in Cleveland, a short-term loan outfit of the type police called "shylocks." The company, which reportedly is planning to go out of business July 1, received back $6 for every $5 loaned over short terms, police said.

In Cleveland, Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert J. Rotatori said the Internal Revenue Service and the FBI had been investigating DiGravio during the past year in cooperation with the organized crime section of the U.S. Department of Justice.

Rotatori said DiGravio's lucrative loan business and his income were focal points of the investigation.

Crime Goes Rural

Preliminary FBI statistics on crime in the U.S. in 1967 indicate the upward trend continued unabated. Nationally, crimes in nearly all categories increased both in absolute numbers and in ratio to the population increase over the 1966 record.

One of the more disturbing facets of 1967 crime was the increase in rural areas. Although definitions of rural crime differ, FBI statistics identified as rural generally reflect communities of 2,500 population or less.

Crime in the seven major offenses climbed 13 percent nationally in rural areas last year. Only one of the categories, forcible rape, showed a decline from 1966. The largest number of cases reported in a single category were the more than 115,000 incidents of burglary, up 16 per cent over the previous year.

Boiling the crime statistics down to the number per 100,000 population reflects the ratio of rural crimes to metropolitan cases. In the seven major offenses, last year there were 623 cases per 100,000 population in rural areas, 1,080 in small cities, and 2,068 in metropolitan centers.

While only one crime in 12 took place in rural areas, the ratio to population is much higher. The rapid growth in burglaries indicates service stations, general stores and similar businesses in the rural sections are considered easy marks.

Rural America is not the isolated area it once was. The exodus of millions of citizens from the big cities to the suburbs and beyond has extended the limits of crime to the most remote sections.

Inadequate police protection in many rural areas also contributes to the rapid increase of crime, but it should also be noted that the best equipped metropolitan police forces are unable to deter rising crime rates.

There is more to crime in the United States today than population location. But the fact rural crime is growing at such a rapid rate faster than in many metropolitan centers is a warning that lawlessness no longer is a disease peculiar to density of population.

Past practices of law enforcement, geared in many cases to crime of another age, are in urgent need of revision to prevent what is now a national disgrace from becoming a national calamity.

Pity the Poor Lion

The image of the lordly lion is badly scarred by a study being engaged in in Tanzania by an American zoologist. For 18 months, the man has been keeping an ear on leonine life, 24 hours a day, by way of transistor radios fastened around the beasts' necks.

Findings are shocking. The lion is lazy, averaging 20 hours of sleep a day; an indifferent lover; a worse father; and lacking the old go-getter spirit, preferring to scavenge rather than hunt.

If forced to hunt for food, he'll pick whatever is handiest and easiest to run down. No gourmet he.

All this is so out of kilter with the historic picture of the noble beast, that there really ought to be some way of giving the poor fellow equal time to refute his researchers. He's not the lowest form of life around, after all.

The lion may have his faults, but he still hasn't sunk so low that he plays peeping tom via radio on some poor slob's love life — and then tells the world about it.

DOG TRAINER Albertine still waxes indignant over the time he took an amazing new pooch into a tough agent's lair and ran it through a routine that included reciting Polonius' speech from Hamlet and singing the tereadore scene from Carmen in perfect pitch. "Incredible, isn't it?" enthused Albertine. "All right as far as it goes," conceded the agent. "Let's see her legs."

One of the more picturesque fellows who hang around a famous resort area is a gent known to all and sundry as quite a character. Just how he manages to finance a suite in one of the most expensive hotels is a mystery nobody seems anxious to solve—but he does turn up now and then with pieces of jewelry and cigarette cases that he's willing to sell at remarkably low prices—for cash only, of course. One evening he had a pair of ruby cufflinks for sale. A guest offered fifty bucks. Said character recoiled with disgust. "Beat it, Buster," he scoffed. "The REWARD is bigger than that!"

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Ulcers of the feet and legs, especially in the elderly, present a great threat unless their cause is established early. Poor circulation of the feet because of narrowing of the arteries by arteriosclerosis, deprives the tissues and muscles of blood and the oxygen it carries. It is for this reason that people with circulatory disturbances and chronic illnesses like diabetes, must be particularly careful not to injure, bruise, or cut their feet, because healing is so much more difficult.

Of great value now is the better understanding of blood circulation and the prevention of ulcers by a technique known as arteriography. By this method it is possible to inject a special type of dye and follow it through the circulation of the arteries and veins in the legs and in the feet. The speed with which the dye passes through the blood stream is determined by X-rays taken at repeated intervals.

Abnormalities of blood vessels and varicose veins deep within the muscles of the leg, can now be readily recognized and, in many cases, can be readily repaired by some of the new, successful, surgical methods.

Ulcers of the feet need very special attention to keep them from becoming complicated and difficult to cure.

The techniques of arteriography can also study all the other large blood vessels in the body, including the brain and heart.

An excellent list has been compiled by Dr. J.R. Stevens, Dr. K. Sachdev and Dr. Mistein at the University of Oregon to bring to the attention of parents, early recognition of emotional problems.

Dr. Bertram Goslimer, a psychoanalyst in New York City who devotes most of his time to children and adolescents, pointed out that parents too often take the attitude that their children's unusual behavior will soon "pass" without help. He believes that neglect of the early symptoms allows more time for them to penetrate deeply and makes the cure more difficult.

All these physicians believe that rage, anger and tantrums that occur repeatedly and without real reason, must not be overlooked. Teasing and hurting may be passing behaviors of children, but when they occur in conjunction with lying and stealing, they deserve more attention.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — "I want you to take a couple of weeks off, Fastalk, and I want you to get out of the city to some nice spot and I don't want you to even think about the office," Mr. Big, the president, told his sales manager.

Fastalk protested: he had too much work to do, he wasn't tired, he loved his job. "That's an order," Big barked, and so Fastalk slunk away to his summer vacation.

The scene might not be common, but it does occur in many large companies, for one of the most persistent problems in scheduling vacations, which generally are being liberalized, is to get the executive to take the time due him.

Rest, relaxation, recreation—just time away from the office—are being regarded increasingly as the route to greater efficiency and productivity. But ironically, some of those very executives who first spotted this route are the least able to follow it.

A report to member companies by the American Management Association, a nonprofit research and educational organization that does a continuing study on vacation policies, contains this observation:

"... the predominant problem appears to be the difficulty in persuading executives to take the vacations to which they are entitled and to take enough consecutive time to take maximum advantage of the rest which is intended to be the purpose of vacations."

The study shows also that some companies now insist that executives not only take longer vacations but follow them with shorter periods away from the office, and that time off "be taken away from home and interrupted by business."

The management association reports that "these companies have reported improved efficiency and productivity as a result of such policies." But there are other reasons also behind the insistence on vacations.

In some companies, for example, the executive's understudy is expected to develop his abilities during the boss' vacation. At least one company requires that every executive take a two-week vacation every six months.

While executives are resisting long vacations — and in some instances are said to be choosing multiple small vacations or long weekends — most companies seem to be liberalizing their policies for salaried workers.

In almost all corporations, the management association says, length of service is the determinant of vacations. The general pattern for salaried workers is one week after six months and two weeks after a year.

The liberalization appears most noticeably in the shorter time needed for three-week vacations. Some companies which once required 15 years of service, the management association says, have now lowered the requirement to 10 years.

Other companies have lowered the ratio to three weeks for five years, and a tendency is now appearing to grant a month after 15 years or even 10, instead of after 25 years of continuous service.

For top executives, however, a different policy usually applies, with three or four weeks generally granted regardless of service length.

GOP Vice Presidential Hopefuls Lean to Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican vice presidential hopefuls are moving into the camp of front-running GOP presidential contender Richard M. Nixon with antiwar Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon the latest recruit.

Earlier fellow freshman Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee had abandoned his "favorite son" status and lined up his state's 28-vote delegation behind Nixon.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, while not supporting Nixon directly, recently dropped his Illinois favorite son status opening the way for much of the state's big 58-vote delegation to back the former vice president.

Hatfield, Baker and Percy are all considered possible running mates if Nixon holds his present lead over New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and capture the GOP nomination at Miami Beach in August.

Similarly, Govs. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland and John A. Volpe of Massachusetts have received indications from the Nixon forces they are prime vice presidential material and are leaning more and more toward Nixon.

And Texas Sen. John G. Tower, also considered in the running, has been praising Nixon's stand on various issues while keeping neutral as the favorite son head of his state's delegation.

Although Hatfield delivered the nominating speech for Nixon in 1960, some reporters at his news conference Thursday indicated surprise at his endorsement of the former vice president, a firm defender of the U.S. stand in Vietnam.

But the Oregon Republican said that, while he does not consider Nixon a dove, "I believe he is the man who can lead us out of Vietnam."

Hatfield said he thinks Rockefeller and Democratic presidential hopeful Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, while courageous, have little chance to be nominated and the election will be between Nixon and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody ever died of high blood pressure while yawning.

Everybody praises the excitement of life too much and underappreciates the importance of boredom as an escort and companion of longevity.

Danger is a great and stimulating drug, but, as the old saying goes, "It's a drug on the market."

For the last two generations almost every graduating class of every high school and college in the land has been sternly admonished by every commencement speaker to "live dangerously."

Among those who are capable of intelligence this has spread a pandemic unease.

It is as meaningless today to advise people to "live dangerously" as it would be to give them a merit badge for jaywalking.

Every human being now is born into danger and his big sweaty-palmed hope is how to get his being away from that disturbing condition.

There are several rescues available. Probably the most dependable, however, is to avoid excitement—which is the forerunner of peril—by creating a self-built, constructive tedium.

How can you make your existence more wholesomely boring?

Well, for example, you might—

Make an interesting collection of nonusable items such as packaged soap from torn down hotels and the timetables of passenger trains that no longer run. School yourself to play croquet not adventurously but defensively.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

There was a time, not so long ago, when Americans took pride in their great cities.

Especially did they take pride in their magnificent Capital city of Washington. They flocked by the millions to see it. They brought their children to admire it. The Capitol, the White House, the Lincoln Memorial. It was considered a gala day when a man and his family came to look at these shrines.

What a tragic change has swept over the country! People are beginning to shun their national Capital, their great cities — to move away from them. They are considered unsafe, their air is polluted and great sections of them have been looted and burnt.

Visitors from abroad who have heard so much about "America the Beautiful" are getting fewer and fewer. Our tourist trade is grinding to a halt.

We may have a "Great Society," but it lives in continual fear and in continual danger of violence — in an atmosphere of fog and smog and crime.

What has been done about this tragic state of affairs? So far, only words and promises! And "commissions to consider," to study the problems, are sprouting like dandelions on the White House lawn. The country has been drugged with smiling promises. Almost every week it seems the President announces with pride the formation of another commission to consider and to suggest.

Although it is impossible to cure these deeprooted urban ills overnight, we must begin. I am going to suggest two programs that we've got to adopt — an immediate one and long range one.

For the immediate program, I suggest a complete change in our political thinking. We've got to realize that the federal government can't do everything, that the local communities must have a close and direct hand in all planning and in all carrying-out of plans.

We've got to stop making fantastic promises that we cannot possibly fulfill and pouring out money in vain attempts to buy Utopia. And we've got to have a program of decisive action to stop the present lawlessness and disorder.

For the long range, we must improve educational opportunities and provide more job training. All employment barriers must be removed. And our welfare programs have to be based on the premise that the hardships are temporary not permanent and will not continue from generation to generation. We've got to have trust and belief and hope in our future or we will be bogged down in a permanent dole and the frustrations that go with it.

We've got to encourage and help private programs that are constructive. We've got to bring private enterprise strongly into the urban picture. As much as possible, we've got to encourage private resources to invest in urban renewal by offering tax benefits to participants.

And, above all, we've got to strengthen our state and local governments to deal with what is a local situation with local angles.

Certainly, this cannot be done overnight but action must be started now to meet the crisis of our cities.

Police said he walked through a check-out line Friday at the Sparkle Supermarket in the Fairlawn Plaza Shopping Center, took $200 from a cash register and ran from the store. He was charged with unarmed robbery.

Cerney fled in a car with two other men and Patrolman Robert Lavery, who was investigating a traffic accident nearby, gave chase, police said.

Lavery said Cerney jumped out of the car and ran into a field west of the plaza. He said he shot Cerney after calling for him to stop and firing a warning shot over his head.

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Delegates to the Ohio State Automobile Association's 62nd annual meeting here urged Congress in a resolution Friday to remove the unilateral authority of the executive branch of government to cut back federal highway funds already allocated to states.

They noted that several times in recent years the administration has ordered such cuts, disrupting highway construction schedules.

In another resolution, the association opposed motor vehicle taxes assessed below state level and urged that counties assessing the new permissive $5 license fee be required to pay the cost of collection now paid by the state.

Sam Bohlen, an Orrville oil company executive, was elected president of the association to succeed Allen Saunders of Toledo.

Brooks P. Julian, Columbus banker, was elected senior vice president and Colin P. Campbell, Washington Court House farmer and cattle breeder, was named treasurer.

Others elected were: Vice presidents—H. Henry Hackett, Akron; Ralph D. Hyatt, Tiffin; Don L. Schrag, Canton; and Arthur C. Spock, Dayton; trustees—Paul R. Gingham, Columbus; John P. Irwin, Portsmouth; D. M. Whitmore, Piqua; and Loren Vinsel, Zanesville.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Middle-Aged Man 'Adopts' Girl, 11

DEAR ABBY: I am an unmarried, middle-aged professional man. While working in another state last summer, I became acquainted with a young woman who worked as a car hop. She had a pretty 11-year-old daughter, and was having a hard time making ends meet. Since I was going to take an extended trip thru the west, I offered to take the child with me. They were both enthused and the mother gave me the girl's birth certificate "in case I needed it."

Upon returning from the trip, the mother was nowhere to be found. I spent several days trying to locate her, but to no avail. The forwarding address she left was phony. I notified the local police, but they couldn't find the mother, nor did they try to remove the girl from my care. They took my permanent address and said they'd notify me if anything turned up.

When I commenced my present job in this town, I presented the girl "as a close relative." She is now 12, very happy, and doing well in school. She never asks about her mother. I think I am doing an excellent job of raising her and it would be a shame to be separated now.

Can you advise me as to the legal and social aspects of this?

NORTH CAROLINA

DEAR NORTH CAROLINA: I think you need a lawyer to help you establish a legal guardianship over the child, satisfying whatever preliminary actions that are required. However well-intentioned you are now vulnerable to a number of unpleasant charges.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because I don't have a mother and my dad wouldn't understand.

I am 14 and have a boy friend named Gary, who is also 14. This might be only puppy love, but I do like him a whole lot.

My problem is another girl. She likes Gary too, and she's trying to get him away from me. She is having a party and she invited Gary but not me. I think she just made up this party as an excuse to get my boy friend.

I felt just terrible and cried in my pillow last night. I keep thinking that if Gary really liked me he wouldn't go.

GARY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Try to be a good sport if it kills you. DON'T say a word to Gary about the party or the other girl. The surest way to lose a boy friend is to be possessive, and bossy. Give him all the freedom he wants and you won't be able to get rid of him.

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps Elmer could solve his problem in some manner such as this. Inscribed on the tombstone in an eastern state are these words:

"Here lies Ephraim Wise Between his two wives.

One was Tillie. The other was Sue.

Both were loyal, tried and true.

I hope my friends from Adam to Willie

Will lay me out so I lean toward Tillie."

Have enjoyed your items for many years in Littleton, Colo.

Quads Born In Indiana

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Allan Irvine, whose family swelled from two to six in less than two hours, says "it's still going to take some adjustment" even though the quadruplets were expected.

Irvin's 26-year-old wife, Francis, gave birth to four boys Friday in Home Hospital here. Dr. Paul A. Williams said the mother and the babies are doing well.

The Irvines live in the northwestern Indiana community of Wheatfield where they were married five years ago. Irvine, 27, commutes to East Chicago where he works at Inland Steel Co.

The quads, born in a span of 92 minutes, weighed from 2 pounds 13 ounces to 3 pounds 4 ounces.

Irvine said he and his wife were told two months ago there would be triplets but it wasn't until Wednesday night they learned that X rays showed a fourth infant.

Court Rejects Man's Appeal Of Life Term

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland man who claimed his lawyer pressured him into pleading guilty to second-degree murder four years ago has failed in his attempt to have his life sentence set aside.

Luther Burks, 40, was ordered returned to Ohio Penitentiary Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Harry Jaffe.

Burks is charged with the 1964 shooting death of William Baker. He claimed his lawyer then, now Mayor Carl B. Stokes, confused him by threats that he would be tried for first-degree murder and possibly sentenced to death if he did not plead guilty to the lesser charge.

Testifying at the Thursday hearing, Mayor Stokes said: "If Luther Burks had gone to trial, it was my opinion that he would have been found guilty of murder in the first degree, and I told him he would be better off if he pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree."

Burks' brother, The Rev. Samuel Burks, testified that Stokes made no threats or promises to his brother. He said it was the family which induced Burks to plead guilty.

Ohio AAA Names Top Officials

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Delegates to the Ohio State Automobile Association's 62nd annual meeting here urged Congress in a resolution Friday to remove the unilateral authority of the executive branch of government to cut back federal highway funds already allocated to states.

They noted that several times in recent years the administration has ordered such cuts, disrupting highway construction schedules.

In another resolution, the association opposed motor vehicle taxes assessed below state level and urged that counties assessing the new permissive $5 license fee be required to pay the cost of collection now paid by the state.

Sam Bohlen, an Orrville oil company executive, was elected president of the association to succeed Allen Saunders of Toledo.

Brooks P. Julian, Columbus banker, was elected senior vice president and Colin P. Campbell, Washington Court House farmer and cattle breeder, was named treasurer.

Others elected were: Vice presidents — H. Henry Hackett, Akron; Ralph D. Hyatt, Tiffin; Don L. Schrag, Canton; and Arthur C. Spock, Dayton; trustees—Paul R. Gingham, Columbus; John P. Irwin, Portsmouth; D. M. Whitmore, Piqua; and Loren Vinsel, Zanesville.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Middle-Aged Man 'Adopts' Girl, 11

DEAR ABBY: I am an unmarried, middle-aged professional man. While working in another state last summer, I became acquainted with a young woman who worked as a car hop. She had a pretty 11-year-old daughter, and was having a hard time making ends meet. Since I was going to take an extended trip thru the west, I offered to take the child with me. They were both enthused and the mother gave me the girl's birth certificate "in case I needed it."

Quads Born In Indiana

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Allan Irvine, whose family swelled from two to six in less than two hours, says "it's still going to take some adjustment" even though the quadruplets were expected.

Irvin's 26-year-old wife, Francis, gave birth to four boys Friday in Home Hospital here. Dr. Paul A. Williams said the mother and the babies are doing well.

The Irvines live in the northwestern Indiana community of Wheatfield where they were married five years ago. Irvine, 27, commutes to East Chicago where he works at Inland Steel Co.

The quads, born in a span of 92 minutes, weighed from 2 pounds 13 ounces to 3 pounds 4 ounces.

Irvin said he and his wife were told two months ago there would be triplets but it wasn't until Wednesday night they learned that X rays showed a fourth infant.

Court Rejects Man's Appeal Of Life Term

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland man who claimed his lawyer pressured him into pleading guilty to second-degree murder four years ago has failed in his attempt to have his life sentence set aside.

Eye New Rules For Lower Courts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft has asked his Ohio Supreme Court panel to name a committee of judges to draft rules governing practices of the state's lower courts.

Taft, in his request Friday, noted that a constitutional amendment approved by Ohio voters in May which calls for revision of the state's court system gives the Supreme Court authority to draw up the rules.

Upon returning from the trip, the mother was nowhere to be found. I spent several days trying to locate her, but to no avail. The forwarding address she left was phony. I notified the local police, but they couldn't find the mother, nor did they try to remove the girl from my care. They took my permanent address and said they'd notify me if anything turned up.

When I commenced my present job in this town, I presented the girl "as a close relative." She is now 12, very happy, and doing well in school. She never asks about her mother. I think I am doing an excellent job of raising her and it would be a shame to be separated now.

Can you advise me as to the legal and social aspects of this?

NORTH CAROLINA
DEAR NORTH CAROLINA:

I think you need a lawyer to help you establish a legal guardianship over the child, satisfying whatever preliminary actions that are required. However well-intentioned you are now vulnerable to a number of unpleasant charges.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because I don't have a mother and my dad wouldn't understand.

I am 14 and have a boy friend named Gary, who is also 14. This might be only puppy love, but I do like him a whole lot.

My problem is another girl. She likes Gary too, and she's trying to get him away from me. She is having a party and she invited Gary but not me. I think she just made up this party as an excuse to get my boy friend.

I felt just terrible and cried in my pillow last night. I keep thinking that if Gary really liked me he wouldn't go.

GARY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Try to be a good sport if it kills you. DON'T say a word to Gary about the party or the other girl. The surest way to lose a boy friend is to be possessive, and bossy. Give him all the freedom he wants and you won't be able to get rid of him.

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps Elmer could solve his problem in some manner such as this. Inscribed on the tombstone in an eastern state are these words:

"Here lies Ephraim Wise Between his two wives. One was Tillie. The other was Sue."

Both were loyal, tried and true.

I hope my friends from Adam to Willie Will lay me out so I lean toward Tillie."

Have enjoyed your items for many years in Littleton, Colo. L.D.F.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FULL OF PRIDE" IN MIDLAND, TEXAS: You are full of prunes, Madame. If you "love him" take him back. Pride has caused more divorces than adultery.

Season for Starring The Barbecue Pit

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Why cook in if you can cook out? It's far more fun and, what's more, food cooked out and eaten out definitely does taste better. Could it be that fresh air is a secret ingredient?

At any rate, don't wait until the Fourth of July launches the outdoor season to strut your stuff at the barbecue pit. If the sun is shining, have your first-of-the-season barbecue this weekend.

Serve steak — always a favorite when it has charcoal flavor — or try lamb, fish or chicken.

For a quick cookout that the kids will enjoy, fall back on burgers or franks with a selection of relish, mustard and ketchup plus go-withs like french fries or sauerkraut.

Some excellent recipes to try over the coals follow:

BARBECUED SHISH KEBAB

- 3 lbs. boned lamb (shoulder or leg)
- 1/2 c. salad oil
- 1/4 c. beer or ale
- 1/4 c. vinegar
- 1/4 c. brown sugar
- 2 tbsp. soy sauce
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 tsp. dry parsley
- 1/4 tsp. dry parsley
- 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
- 1/4 tsp. crushed basil
- 8 small white onions, peeled
- 6 mushrooms, stems removed
- 1 green pepper sliced into 2-in. pieces
- 2 tomatoes, cut into wedges
- 1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce
- Cut meat into 2-inch pieces, about 1-inch thick; remove gristle and most of fat.
- To make marinade, combine oil, beer, vinegar, brown sugar, soy sauce, garlic, parsley, mustard and basil in large bowl.
- Add lamb pieces and let marinate in refrigerator at least 3 hours or overnight, turning meat occasionally.
- When ready to cook, alternate marinated lamb chunks with vegetables on long metal skewers.
- Add tomato sauce to remaining marinade to make barbecue sauce; brush over vegetables and lamb. Broil over hot coals until lamb is tender, about 15 minutes. Brush frequently with barbecue sauce and turn skewers to brown kebabs. Serves 6 to 8.

LAMB CHOPS WITH WATER CRESS BUTTER

- 6 tbsp. butter, softened
- 1/4 c. chopped water cress
- 1/4 tsp. marjoram leaves
- Dash onion powder
- 6 (1 1/2 to 2-in. thick) sirloin lamb chops, about 3 1/2 lbs.
- Salt and pepper
- Combine butter, water cress, marjoram and onion powder; mix well.
- Sprinkle lamb with salt and pepper.
- Broil 6 to 7-inches from heat source for 12 to 15 minutes on each side or until desired degree of doneness.
- Serve water cress butter with chops.

LOUISIANA YAMS IN LEMON SAUCE

- 2 tbsp. sugar
- 2 tsp. cornstarch
- 1/4 tsp. allspice
- Dash salt
- 1/4 c. water
- 2 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 1/4 tsp. grated lemon peel
- 2 tbsp. lemon juice

STEAK — A thick sirloin steak and a shish kebab that's been marinated in beer or ale, oil, vinegar, soy sauce and seasonings will establish your reputation as a barbecue chef.

- 3 (1 lb.) cans Louisiana yams, drained
- 3 lemon slices
- Mix together sugar, cornstarch, allspice and salt in saucepan. Gradually add water. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture boils 1 minute. Add butter, lemon peel and juice; stir until butter melts.
- Add yams to sauce and heat. Garnish with lemon slices.
- Serves 6.

BARBECUED SIRLOIN STEAK

- 7 lbs. sirloin steak, 2 to 2 1/2 in. thick
- Salt and pepper
- 1/4 c. butter or margarine (optional)
- When coals are white hot or when grill level registers about 250 degrees F. sear steak on both sides to hold in juice. Continue cooking, turning with tongs, until proper degree of doneness is reached. Meat thermometer may be used.

HELLENIC BARBECUE SAUCE

- 1 pt. white vinegar
- 1/4 c. olive oil
- 1 1/2 tsp. onion salt
- 1 tsp. oregano
- 1/2 tsp. each seasoned salt and pepper
- Combine all ingredients. Let the mixture stand several hours or overnight to blend the flavors.

Homemakers
Will Note
Fair Changes

Those wishing to make entries in the Homemaking, Hobbies and Novelties division of the Pickaway County Fair will find that several changes have been made.

The first change is that the fair will open on Sunday instead of Monday. The exhibits will be in the new air conditioned building on top of the hill near the coliseum.

Miss Mary Clark, general chairman, announced that tablecloths and bedspreads will be in the same category; centerpieces both white and colored are combined; pot holders and novelties will be in the same class; sweaters, shells, gloves etc. may be made of yarn other than wool in the junior knitting group up to 14 years; all pillow cases will be in one judging group.

Pot holders, crewel embroidery and cushions (other than crewel embroidered) will be in miscellaneous arts and crafts; blouses and dresses may be made of material other than cotton; cakes are to be placed on cardboard with the edges not exceeding 1 inch beyond the cake; the best decorated cake does not have to be on a cake; any base may be used; a rosette will be awarded the best entry in the yeast bread and rolls division, and changes have also been made in the canned goods display.

New varieties of cakes have been added and a half cake may be entered; breakfast bread has been added to the quick bread list; entries in the hobbies and novelties exhibit having won first place previously will not be eligible. In the hobbies division minerals and stones are in separate judging from shells and fossils; gift wrapped boxes and ceramics have been added to the list.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Why cook in if you can cook out? It's far more fun and, what's more, food cooked out and eaten out definitely does taste better. Could it be that fresh air is a secret ingredient?

At any rate, don't wait until the Fourth of July launches the outdoor season to strut your stuff at the barbecue pit. If the sun is shining, have your first-of-the-season barbecue this weekend.

Serve steak — always a favorite when it has charcoal flavor — or try lamb, fish or chicken.

For a quick cookout that the kids will enjoy, fall back on burgers or franks with a selection of relish, mustard and ketchup plus go-withs like french fries or sauerkraut.

Some excellent recipes to try over the coals follow:

BARBECUED SHISH KEBAB

3 lbs. boned lamb (shoulder or leg)
1/2 c. salad oil
1/2 c. beer or ale
1/4 c. vinegar
1/4 c. brown sugar
2 tbsp. soy sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 tsp. dry parsley
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. crushed basil
8 small white onions, peeled
6 mushrooms, stems removed
1 green pepper sliced into 2-in. pieces
2 tomatoes, cut into wedges
1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce
Cut meat into 2-inch pieces, about 1-inch thick; remove gristle and most of fat.
To make marinade, combine oil, beer, vinegar, brown sugar, soy sauce, garlic, parsley, mustard and basil in large bowl.
Add lamb pieces and let marinate in refrigerator at least 3 hours or overnight, turning meat occasionally.
When ready to cook, alternate marinated lamb chunks with vegetables on long metal skewers.
Add tomato sauce to remaining marinade to make barbecue sauce; brush over vegetables and lamb. Broil over hot coals until lamb is tender, about 15 minutes. Brush frequently with barbecue sauce and turn skewers to brown kebabs. Serves 6 to 8.

LAMB CHOPS WITH WATER CRESS BUTTER

6 tbsp. butter, softened
1/4 c. chopped water cress
1/4 tsp. marjoram leaves
Dash onion powder
6 (1 1/2 to 2-in. thick) sirloin lamb chops, about 3 1/2 lbs.
Salt and pepper
Combine butter, water cress, marjoram and onion powder; mix well.
Sprinkle lamb with salt and pepper.
Broil 6 to 7-inches from heat source for 12 to 15 minutes on each side or until desired degree of doneness.
Serve water cress butter with chops.

LOUISIANA YAMS IN LEMON SAUCE

2 tbsp. sugar
2 tsp. cornstarch
1/4 tsp. allspice
Dash salt
3/4 c. water
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1/4 tsp. grated lemon peel
2 tbsp. lemon juice

Elderly Ed Charles Leads Mets to Win

By HAL ROCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Elderly Ed Charles is poet laureate and den father for the exuberant New York Mets. He doesn't do badly with a bat either.
Charles, at 35 a relic among the youthful Mets, joined in the fun with a single and double Friday night, driving in three runs in New York's 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.
The two hits boosted his average to .303, ninth best in the National League. It might have been enough to inspire a poem.
Poetry is Ed Charles' hobby... poetry and the Mets. "I've never had so much fun playing baseball," laughs Charles, who seems to have been rejuvenated by his fuzzy-faced teammates.

Elsewhere in the National League Friday night, Chicago tied a 62-year-old record for scoreless innings and then defeated Cincinnati 3-2, Houston edged Philadelphia 2-1, San Francisco shut out Pittsburgh 3-0 and St. Louis edged Atlanta 4-3 in 13 innings.
Charles was a ballplayer without a team during the winter when the Mets needed roster room to protect younger men and released him. But he was invited to spring training and made the club with some lousy Florida hitting.
He's been New York's hottest hitter over the last month and has spurred a Met drive of 12 victories in the last 18 games and a jump into sixth place, a half game out of the first division and one game under .500.

Charles, who has hit in nine straight games, doubled home two runs in the third inning and then singled another run across as the Mets wrapped it up with three in the eighth. Dick Selma won his seventh with late-inning help from Al Jackson, who struck out four of the five batters he retired.
The Cubs tied the record for team futility with two scoreless innings, running their string to 48, then busted out of it with three straight walks and a sacrifice fly by Billy Williams in the third inning against the Reds.

The record was set by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1906.
Their share of immortality assured, the Cubs pushed two more runs across to beat the Reds. Singles by Adolfo Phillips and Williams drove them across. Johnny Bench homered for Cincinnati.
Rusty Staub drove in both Houston runs and Mike Cuellar bested rookie Jeff James with a six-hitter to beat the Phillies.
Staub doubled one run across in the first and singled the tie-breaker home in the fifth. Cuellar struck out 12 for his fourth victory.
Mike Shannon's 13th inning double scored Bobby Tolan, who had singled, as the Cardinals nipped Atlanta. It was the sixth straight victory for first-place St. Louis.

Hank Aaron's 494th career homer had tied it for the Braves in the eighth. The homer put him ahead of Lou Gehrig in eighth place on the all-time home run list.
Bob Bolin hurled a four-hitter and Willie Mays had a hand in two Giant runs, helping San Francisco drop Pittsburgh.
Mays singled Ty Cline to third base in the fourth inning and Willie McCovey's fly ball brought the run home. Three innings later, Mays singled, raced to third on McCovey's double and scored on a wild pitch.

Bruce Devlin Out Front In Golf Tilt

TORONTO (AP) — The most amazing thing about Bruce Devlin's two sub-par rounds in the Canadian Open golf championship is that the lanky Australian ever got to the tournament.
Devlin was rerouted and "I wouldn't have tried to qualify if I hadn't been exempt," he said after taking sole possession of first place Friday with a two-round total of five-under-par 135.
When Devlin arrived here early this week, his failure to file a formal entry was discovered and he was only allowed to play after a meeting between the Royal Canadian Golf Association and the Professional Golfers Association.
Devlin scored a three-under-par 67 in the opening round Thursday to share the lead with Ken Still and shot a 68 Friday to take a three-stroke lead over his nearest pursuers.
His second round was played through a steady drizzle that hit the 6,792-yard St. George's Golf Club course.
Three strokes behind Devlin were Still and Bob Charles of New Zealand. Still carded a 72 Friday while Charles came in with a 68.
Billy Casper, the defending champion, was the only member of goldfom's Big Three to finish at par. Starting the day at one-under 69, Casper carded a 71 and tied with seven other U.S. professionals at 140. The others were Fred Marti, R.H. Sikes, Lou Graham, Rives McBee, Jack Ewing, Bob Smith and Tom Weiskopf.
Jack Nicklaus scored 68 Friday and was one over at 141. Arnold Palmer, who also missed the cut in the $200,000 world Championship here last year, finished with 149 and headed for home.

Indians Trim Tigers, 4-3

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I'd say we owed 'em one," said Tony Horton after the big first baseman slammed a two-run homer in the 13th inning to give the Cleveland Indians a 4-3 decision over the American League-leading Detroit Tigers Friday night.
"They beat us a couple of heartbreakers earlier," he continued.
Horton, who had a hard time touching home plate because of the crowd of teammates waiting to greet him, called his shot over the 385-foot sign in left-center the most important hit of the year.
"Anytime you can hit a home run to win a game it's big, especially against Detroit," he said.
Horton picked on Pat Doherty's first pitch with Jose Cardenal on first base, two out and the Indians trailing, 3-2, to hit his eighth homer of the season.
The home run gave victory No. 2 to knuckleballer Eddie Fisher, who had given up a run in the top of the 13th on a hit-and-run double by Jim Northrup.
Manager Alvin Dark was especially pleased with Fisher's performance, saying "it's the best he's pitched in quite a while."
Fisher worked the last three innings after rookie Mike Paul had hurled two perfect innings in relief of starter Sonny Siebert, striking out five of the six batters he faced.

The Indians almost won the game in the 11th inning, but Tommy Harper, who had sent the game into extra innings with a run - scoring double in the ninth, missed an attempted bunt on a suicide squeeze with the bases loaded and Dave Nelson was an easy out.
Cardenal opened the bottom of the ninth with a single after Mickey Lolich had retired 20 straight batters and two outs later he scored on Harper's double to tie the game, 2-2.

Detroit went into the ninth with a 2-1 lead built on consecutive fifth inning doubles by Lolich and Dick McAuliffe. The Tigers got their first run in the second inning on singles by Willie Horton and Don Wert sandwiched around a walk and a hit batsman.
Steve Hargan (4 - 6) of the Indians and Detroit's Earl Wilson (5 - 4) drew the starting assignments for today's second game of the five-game series.

'Old Blue' Is Released In Hargus Lake Contest

Division of Wildlife, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, released a 30-pound, 36-inch shovelhead catfish, "Old Blue," Thursday afternoon in Hargus Lake, A. W. Marion State Park.
The shovelhead was put into the lake as part of a contest sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson, managers of Lakeside Supply.
The contest will run until "Old Blue" is taken from the waters. Prize for the lucky angler is a Garcia Mitchell 300 spin-cast reel and matching balanced Garcia rod.
The Natural Resources Dept. has been helping sponsors with the contest in Ohio for several years. This is the first time an "Old Blue" was ever put into Hargus Lake.

SEVERAL weeks ago a school of shovelheads was spotted by the Resources Dept. They rigged up nets and caught them for distribution to contest sponsors.

In all, ten of the big cats were taken but only four were classified "Old Blues," weighing over 20 pounds. Added to others, these "Old Blues" were taken to Madison, Knox, Delaware, Mt. Gilead, Olenangy, Kiser and other Ohio lakes and reservoirs.
Department officials recommend anglers use live bait — chubs, shad or minnows. The fish will probably stay in deeper, cooler parts of the lake.

Say Chamberlain To Be Traded To LA Lakers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, the towering, high-scoring basketball star of the Philadelphia 76ers, will be traded to the Los Angeles Lakers, a San Francisco sports announcer said Friday.
"I know it's going to take place. The only thing I'm not sure about is who will hold the press conference," Lon Simmons, a baseball announcer for the San Francisco Giants, told The Associated Press.
Simmons, who is in Pittsburgh with the Giants, said the deal will be made with the Lakers for Jerry Chambers, Darrell Imhoff, possibly Archie Clark, and an undetermined amount of cash.
Pressed on his sources, Simmons would not reveal them, but he did say, "I just didn't come up with this out of thin air."
Chamberlain, 7-foot-1, is one of the highest paid athletes in the history of sports. His salary is estimated at $250,000.
A trade for the super-sfar has been reported for some time. But as late as Thursday night the 76ers said there is "no deal cooking."

Elderly Ed Charles Leads Mets to Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Elderly Ed Charles is poet laureate and den father for the exuberant New York Mets. He doesn't do badly with a bat either.
Charles, at 35 a relic among the youthful Mets, joined in the fun with a single and double Friday night, driving in three runs in New York's 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.
The two hits boosted his average to .303, ninth best in the National League. It might have been enough to inspire a poem.
Poetry is Ed Charles' hobby... poetry and the Mets. "I've never had so much fun playing baseball," laughs Charles, who seems to have been rejuvenated by his fuzzy-faced teammates.

Elsewhere in the National League Friday night, Chicago tied a 62-year-old record for scoreless innings and then defeated Cincinnati 3-2. Houston edged Philadelphia 2-1. San Francisco shut out Pittsburgh 3-0 and St. Louis edged Atlanta 4-3 in 13 innings.
Charles was a ballplayer without a team during the winter when the Mets needed roster room to protect younger men and released him. But he was invited to spring training and made the club with some lusty Florida hitting.
He's been New York's hottest hitter over the last month and has spurred a Met drive of 12 victories in the last 18 games and a jump into sixth place, a half game out of the first division and one game under .500.

Charles, who has hit in nine straight games, doubled home two runs in the third inning and then singled another run across as the Mets wrapped it up with three in the eighth. Dick Selma won his seventh with late-inning help from Al Jackson, who struck out four of the five batters he retired.
The Cubs tied the record for team futility with two scoreless innings, running their string to 48, then busted out of it with three straight walks and a sacrifice fly by Billy Williams in the third inning against the Reds.

The record was set by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1906.
Their share of immortality assured, the Cubs pushed two more runs across to beat the Reds. Singles by Adolfo Phillips and Williams drove them across. Johnny Bench homered for Cincinnati.
Rusty Staub drove in both Houston runs and Mike Cuellar bested rookie Jeff James with a six-hitter to beat the Phillies.
Staub doubled one run across in the first and singled the tie-breaker home in the fifth. Cuellar struck out 12 for his fourth victory.
Mike Shannon's 13th inning double scored Bobby Tolan, who had singled, as the Cardinals nipped Atlanta. It was the sixth straight victory for first-place St. Louis.

Hank Aaron's 494th career homer had tied it for the Braves in the eighth. The homer put him ahead of Lou Gehrig in eighth place on the all-time home run list.
Bob Bolin hurled a four-hitter and Willie Mays had a hand in two Giant runs, helping San Francisco drop Pittsburgh.
Mays singled Ty Cline to third base in the fourth inning and Willie McCovey's fly ball brought the run home. Three innings later, Mays singled, raced to third on McCovey's double and scored on a wild pitch.

Bruce Devlin Out Front In Golf Tilt

TORONTO (AP) — The most amazing thing about Bruce Devlin's two sub-par rounds in the Canadian Open golf championship is that the lanky Australian ever got to the tournament.

Devlin was rerouted and "I wouldn't have tried to qualify if I hadn't been exempt," he said after taking sole possession of first place Friday with a two-round total of five-under-par 135.
When Devlin arrived here early this week, his failure to file a formal entry was discovered and he was only allowed to play after a meeting between the Royal Canadian Golf Association and the Professional Golfers Association.

Devlin scored a three-under-par 67 in the opening round Thursday to share the lead with Ken Still and shot a 68 Friday to take a three-stroke lead over his nearest pursuers.
His second round was played through a steady drizzle that hit the 6,792-yard St. George's Golf Club course.

Three strokes behind Devlin were Still and Bob Charles of New Zealand. Still carded a 72 Friday while Charles came in with a 68.
Billy Casper, the defending champion, was the only member of golfdom's Big Three to finish at par. Starting the day at one-under 69, Casper carded a 71 and tied with seven other U.S. professionals at 140. The others were Fred Marti, R.H. Sikes, Lou Graham, Rives McBee, Jack Ewing, Bob Smith and Tom Weiskopf.

Jack Nicklaus scored 68 Friday and was one over at 141. Arnold Palmer, who also missed the cut in the $200,000 world Championship here last year, finished with 149 and headed for home.

Indians Trim Tigers, 4-3

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I'd say we owed 'em one," said Tony Horton after the big first baseman slammed a two-run homer in the 13th inning to give the Cleveland Indians a 4-3 decision over the American League-leading Detroit Tigers Friday night.
"They beat us a couple of heartbreakers earlier," he continued.
Horton, who had a hard time touching home plate because of the crowd of teammates waiting to greet him, called his shot over the 385-foot sign in left-center the most important hit of the year.
"Anytime you can hit a home run to win a game it's big, especially against Detroit," he said.

Horton picked on Pat Doherty's first pitch with Jose Cardenal on first base, two out and the Indians trailing, 3-2, to hit his eighth homer of the season.
The home run gave victory No. 2 to knuckleballer Eddie Fisher, who had given up a run in the top of the 13th on a hit-and-run double by Jim Northrup.

Manager Alvin Dark was especially pleased with Fisher's performance, saying "it's the best he's pitched in quite a while."

had hurled two perfect innings in relief of starter Sonny Siebert, striking out five of the six batters he faced.

The Indians almost won the game in the 11th inning, but Tommy Harper, who had sent the game into extra innings with a run - scoring double in the ninth, missed an attempted bunt on a suicide squeeze with the bases loaded and Dave Nelson was an easy out.

Cardenal opened the bottom of the ninth with a single after Mickey Lolich had retired 20 straight batters and two outs

later he scored on Harper's double to tie the game, 2-2.
Detroit went into the ninth with a 2-1 lead built on consecutive fifth inning doubles by Lolich and Dick McAuliffe. The Tigers got their first run in the second inning on singles by Willie Horton and Don Wert sandwiched around a walk and a hit batsman.

Steve Hargan (4 - 6) of the Indians and Detroit's Earl Wilson (5 - 4) drew the starting assignments for today's second game of the five-game series.

Pitchers took the back seat in the Little League Minor action Friday, as batters hammered out a total of 104 hits in four games.

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND (AP)—Glamorous Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus may look like mere mortals next week when firing starts in the $110,000 sixth annual Cleveland Open golf tournament.

Golf fans here will be straining for a look at the pro tour's newest sensation, Lee Trevino of El Paso, Tex.

Trevino, a 28-year-old Mexican-American, passed up the Canadian Open and will be making his first appearance since his brilliant victory in the U.S. Open.

The colorful rags-to-riches professional should be a delight to watch. Unlike Palmer and Nicklaus, he plays extremely fast. No matter how tough the shot or the pressure, he walks up and whacks the ball.

Described as a joker and a wise-cracking comedian, Trevino keeps up a running conversation with the fans. "When they don't talk to me, I talk to myself," he says.

His $30,000 victory in the Open was his first professional tournament triumph in a one-year career and his 275 winning total matched the lowest score ever shot in the Open. He'll be gunning for the $22,000 first prize.

Nicklaus, who set the Open record last year, has never won here and hasn't won a tournament in seven months. But his second-place finish in the Open indicates he may be ready to crack the winner's circle.

Palmer, still the biggest name in golf, has been in a terrible slump but usually plays well here. He won the first Cleveland Open in 1963 in a playoff with the late Tony Lema and Tommy Aaron; lost in a playoff to Lema in 1964; finished 10th in 1965; was well down the list in 66 and finished in a tie for ninth place last year.

Gardner Dickinson registered a four-stroke victory in last year's event and R. H. Sikes posted the lowest score—268—in capturing the 1966 tourney at the Lakewood Country Club, the site of next week's competition.

The 6,770-yard Lakewood course is expected to be a lot tougher than it played two years ago.

Yancey, who led the U.S. Open through the first three rounds before fading to Trevino's last round rush, Yancey has played in three Cleveland Opens but has yet to win a dollar.

Master's champion Bob Goalby and Billy Casper, winner of four tournaments, also are in the field of 144.

On Monday, the non-exempt players will bid for berths in the 72-hole tourney which begins Thursday. A qualifier by touring pros for the PGA championship is the Tuesday feature while a pro-amateur will highlight Wednesday's action.

Top Golfers Ready To Go in Cleveland Open Tourney

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND (AP)—Glamorous Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus may look like mere mortals next week when firing starts in the $110,000 sixth annual Cleveland Open golf tournament.

Golf fans here will be straining for a look at the pro tour's newest sensation, Lee Trevino of El Paso, Tex.

Trevino, a 28-year-old Mexican-American, passed up the Canadian Open and will be making his first appearance since his brilliant victory in the U.S. Open.

The colorful rags-to-riches professional should be a delight to watch. Unlike Palmer and Nicklaus, he plays extremely fast. No matter how tough the shot or the pressure, he walks up and whacks the ball.

Described as a joker and a wise-cracking comedian, Trevino keeps up a running conversation with the fans. "When they don't talk to me, I talk to myself," he says.

His $30,000 victory in the Open was his first professional tournament triumph in a one-year career and his 275 winning total matched the lowest score ever shot in the Open. He'll be gunning for the $22,000 first prize.

Nicklaus, who set the Open record last year, has never won here and hasn't won a tournament in seven months. But his second-place finish in the Open indicates he may be ready to crack the winner's circle.

Palmer, still the biggest name in golf, has been in a terrible slump but usually plays well here. He won the first Cleveland Open in 1963 in a playoff with the late Tony Lema and Tommy Aaron; lost in a playoff to Lema in 1964; finished 10th in 1965; was well down the list in 66 and finished in a tie for ninth place last year.

Gardner Dickinson registered a four-stroke victory in last year's event and R. H. Sikes posted the lowest score—268—in capturing the 1966 tourney at the Lakewood Country Club, the site of next week's competition.

The 6,770-yard Lakewood course is expected to be a lot tougher than it played two years ago.

Yancey, who led the U.S. Open through the first three rounds before fading to Trevino's last round rush. Yancey has played in three Cleveland Opens but has yet to win a dollar.

Master's champion Bob Goalby and Billy Casper, winner of four tournaments, also are in the field of 144.

On Monday, the non-exempt players will bid for berths in the 72-hole tourney which begins Thursday. A qualifier by touring pros for the PGA championship is the Tuesday feature while a pro-amateur will highlight Wednesday's action.

Resignations Ignored by Village Council

The village council of Kingston met in special session Thursday night following a letter to Mayor Paul Priest from members of the Board of Public Affairs stating their resignation intent.
The three-member board gave business pressures as their reason for resigning the posts.
Council did not act on the resignations of the board members, but authorized payment of a debt incurred by the board in the repair of the village water storage tank.
The village clerk, Jayne Norris, had refused to pay the submitted bill stating it would leave council with inadequate operating funds for the remainder of the year.
Council authorized borrowing the money to pay the bill.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citing his "continuing progress," doctors watching over former President Dwight D. Eisenhower since his recent heart attack have stopped issuing daily bulletins on his condition.

This announcement and others by Gen. Eisenhower's physicians at Walter Reed Army Hospital Friday indicated—although it was not stated in so many words—that the 77-year-old patient has passed the most dangerous stage in recovering from the attack.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California is the newest addition to the list of prospective presidential candidates receiving Secret Service protection since the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Although Reagan is not an announced candidate for the Republican nomination he began receiving security assistance from the Secret Service Friday.

The law was quickly enacted by Congress after the Kennedy slaying at White House request. It gives Secretary of the Treasury Henry C. Fowler and a special advisory committee the discretion to say which candidates, declared or otherwise, should be given the special protection at taxpayers' expense.

Besides Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who gets Secret Service coverage by virtue of his office, the contenders granted this protection since the Kennedy assassination are Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., Richard M. Nixon, George C. Wallace, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and Harold Stassen.

Capital Footnotes
President Johnson has named three more members to the Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence: Leon Jaworski, Houston lawyer; Chief Judge Ernest W. McFarland of the Arizona Supreme Court; and Dr. William Walter Menninger, psychiatrist at the Menninger Clinic, Topeka, Kan.
Patrick Lyndon Nugent, only grandchild of President Johnson, celebrated his first birthday Friday with a party at the White House.
California campaign workers for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy have gathered 500,000 signatures on gun-control petitions.

2 Ohio Men Get Sentences For Bogus Bills

Both face sentences of up to five years in prison and $10,000 fines for conspiracy to pass the bogus bills. Philpot also faces an additional 15-year prison term and $5,000 on one count of passing counterfeit bills.

Several persons have been indicted in the case. Some have pleaded guilty and others are to be tried.

Resignations Ignored by Village Council

The village council of Kingston met in special session Thursday night following a letter to Mayor Paul Priest from members of the Board of Public Affairs stating their resignation intent.
The three-member board gave business pressures as their reason for resigning the posts.
Council did not act on the resignations of the board members, but authorized payment of a debt incurred by the board in the repair of the village water storage tank.
The village clerk, Jayne Norris, had refused to pay the submitted bill stating it would leave council with inadequate operating funds for the remainder of the year.
Council authorized borrowing the money to pay the bill.

The two men appeared in court Friday morning and originally entered a plea of innocent to the charges. They were incarcerated in lieu of $300 bond the judge set.

The two men then changed their minds, and a second court hearing was held. It was at the second hearing that they pleaded guilty.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citing his "continuing progress," doctors watching over former President Dwight D. Eisenhower since his recent heart attack have stopped issuing daily bulletins on his condition.

This announcement and others by Gen. Eisenhower's physicians at Walter Reed Army Hospital Friday indicated — although it was not stated in so many words — that the 77-year-old patient has passed the most dangerous stage in recovering from the attack.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California is the newest addition to the list of prospective presidential candidates receiving Secret Service protection since the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Although Reagan is not an announced candidate for the Republican nomination he began receiving security assistance from the Secret Service Friday.

The law was quickly enacted by Congress after the Kennedy slaying at White House request. It gives Secretary of the Treasury Henry C. Fowler and a special advisory committee the discretion to say which candidates, declared or otherwise, should be given the special protection at taxpayers' expense.

Besides Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who gets Secret Service coverage by virtue of his office, the contenders granted this protection since the Kennedy assassination are Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., Richard M. Nixon, George C. Wallace, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and Harold Stassen.

Capital Footnotes

President Johnson has named three more members to the Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence: Leon Jaworski, Houston lawyer; Chief Judge Ernest W. McFarland of the Arizona Supreme Court; and Dr. William Walter Menninger, psychiatrist at the Menninger Clinic, Topeka, Kan.

Patrick Lyndon Nugent, only grandchild of President Johnson, celebrated his first birthday Friday with a party at the White House.

California campaign workers for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy have gathered 500,000 signatures on gun-control petitions.

2 Ohio Men Get Sentences For Bogus Bills

CINCINNATI (AP) — A U.S. District Court jury Friday convicted Larry E. Brooks, 27, Zanesville, and Donald Philpot, 26, Trotwood, for their parts in a counterfeiting operation uncovered in southern Ohio.

Both face sentences of up to five years in prison and $10,000 fines for conspiracy to pass the bogus bills. Philpot also faces an additional 15-year prison term and $5,000 on one count of passing counterfeit bills.

Several persons have been indicted in the case. Some have pleaded guilty and others are to be tried.
